Background

For more than 30 years, the First Source Program (Program) has been cited as an important part of the District of Columbia’s strategy to provide job opportunities and reduce unemployment among District residents. According to the Department of Employment Services’ (DOES) website, the Program “ensures that city residents are given priority for new jobs created by municipal financing and development programs.” The First Source Law (Law) requires that the Mayor include for every government-assisted project or contract a requirement that the beneficiary enter into an First Source Agreement (hereafter referred to as employment agreement) with the District of Columbia which states that:

• The first source for finding employees to fill all jobs created by the government-assisted project or contract will be the First Source Register; and
• The first source for finding employees to fill any vacancy occurring in all jobs covered by an employment agreement will be the First Source Register.¹

There have been numerous changes to the program and Law since the inception of the program. The most recent significant changes were initiated through the “Workforce Intermediary Establishment and Reform of First Source Amendment Act of 2011” (the Act).² According to the October 4, 2011, committee report issued by then-Chair of the Committee on Housing and Workforce Development, former Councilmember Michael Brown, the committee’s rationale at that time included:

• “Focusing on compliance within the District’s First Source Law has become the accepted short hand to refer to finding ways to get residents hired. While First Source cannot solve all the deficiencies related to job opportunities available for District Residents, the concept is key because it governs contractual relationships where the District is in a strong negotiating position. Recognizing this and considering the annual volume of contracting, the District must use this leverage to focus on maximizing job opportunities whenever public funding is used.”
• “High levels of unemployment have persisted citywide for multiple years now; the rate has experienced large fluctuations and as of August 2011 was 11.1 percent as reported by the US Department of Labor and in some Wards of the city the unemployment rate is estimated to be over 30%. Sustained high levels of unemployment typically lead to severe financial hardships for those affected.”
• “Labor market data shows that there are over 700,000 jobs in the District and yet approximately 72% of those jobs are held by people living outside the city’s borders. The District’s Congressionally-imposed ban on taxing any of the income that leaves the city means that the District is subsidizing surrounding jurisdictions to the tune of $1 billion to $2 billion a year in lost revenue. The Districts sustained rate of high unemployment, the sharp increase in the demand for social services, and the inability to tax income at the source, puts the city in a unique situation that makes local hiring critical to the overarching health of the jurisdiction.”
• “Conceptually, the prevailing attitude related to the use of District funding and other incentives is a united voice calling for the companies and organizations receiving these benefits to hire District residents. Practically, the current First Source law is limited in scope because the 51% District-resident requirement for entities under First Source agreements only applies to new hires. In addition, enforcement and applying proscribed penalties is nearly impossible because showing evidence of noncompliance with the statue’s “best efforts” to meet the 51% new hire requirement is a very low legal standard. As currently written, our First Source law is essentially a goal that the city encourages our District contractors to meet.3

² The “Workforce Intermediary Establishment and Reform of First Source Amendment Act of 2011” (B19-0050, Law 19-0084) became effective on February 24, 2012.

After passage, significant changes to the Law included, but were not limited to:

• Increasing the base subsidy level that triggers an employment agreement from $100,000 to $300,000.
• Requiring each government-assisted construction project receiving government assistance totaling $5 million or more to adhere to enhanced First Source hiring requirements.
• Requiring specific documentation evidencing a good-faith effort to comply with First Source requirements prior to obtaining a waiver from an employment agreement.
• Including pro-rated fines for not reaching specific hiring requirements.

Law Requirements for Projects or Contracts Receiving Government Assistance Totaling between $300,000 and $5,000,000

The Law requires that the Mayor include in each government-assisted project or contract that receives government assistance totaling between $300,000 and $5,000,000 a provision that at least 51 percent of the new employees hired on the project or contract shall be District residents.5

As written, this requirement applies only to new positions created that are not immediately filled by individuals already on the payroll of the contractor (e.g. a transfer of a current employee working on another project of the beneficiary).

The Law also requires that each government-assisted project or contract that receives government assistance totaling between $300,000 and $5,000,000 submit to DOES each month following the start of the project or contract a hiring compliance report for the project or contract that includes the:

• Number of employees who worked on the project or contract.
• Number of current employees transferred.
• Number of new job openings created.
• Number of job openings created by employee attrition.
• Number of job openings listed with DOES.
• Total monthly and direct and indirect labor costs associated with the project or contract.
• Total number of District residents hired for the reporting period and the cumulative total number of District residents hired.

3 See Committee on Housing and Workforce Development Committee Report on B19-50, the “Workforce Intermediary Establishment and Reform of First Source Amendment Act of 2011”, October 14, 2011.
4 DC Code § 2-219.01(5) defines “Government assisted project or contract” as any construction or non-construction project or contract receiving funds or resources from the District of Columbia, or funds or resources which, in accordance with a federal grant or otherwise, the District of Columbia government administers, including contracts, grants, loans, tax abatements or exemptions, land transfers, land disposition and development agreements, tax increment financing, or any combination thereof, that is valued at $300,000 or more.
5 See DC Code § 2-219.03 (e)(1)(A).
• Total number of all employees hired for the reporting period and cumulative total number of employees hired, including each employee’s:
  o Name.
  o Social Security Number.
  o Job title.
  o Hire date.
  o Residence.
  o Referral source for all new hires.6

Law Requirements for Construction Projects or Contracts Receiving Government Assistance Totaling $5 Million or More7

The Law requires that the Mayor include in each government-assisted construction project receiving government assistance totaling $5 million or more, a provision requiring that:

• At least 20 percent of journey worker hours by trade shall be performed by District residents.
• At least 60 percent of apprentice hours by trade shall be performed by District residents.
• At least 51 percent of skilled laborer hours by trade shall be performed by District residents.
• At least 70 percent of common laborer hours by trade shall be performed by District residents.9

The Law also requires that each month following the start of the construction project or contract, beneficiaries submit to DOES copies of their monthly cumulative certified payrolls, monthly and cumulative certified payrolls from all subcontractors at any tier working on the project or contract, as well as a report of the total monthly direct and indirect labor costs associated with the project or contract.10 Last, the Law requires bidders and awardees on construction projects or contracts totaling $5 million or more to submit employment plans that identify specific details regarding associated jobs and strategies to meet their hiring requirements.11

Law Requirements for Companies Bidding on Construction Projects

According to the Law, bidding companies on construction projects are to submit an employment plan to include:

• Strategies to meet the local hiring requirements as part of its response to a solicitation.
• Descriptions of health and retirement benefits provided to employees who worked on any of the bidder or offeror’s past three completed projects or contracts.
• A description of the bidder’s efforts to provide District residents with ongoing employment and training opportunities after they complete work on the project or contract on the job for which they were initially hired.

6 6 See DC Code § 2-219.03 (e).
7 For purposes of this report a reference to “construction project” is referring to a construction project over $5 million with enhanced First Source requirements.
8 “Government assisted project or contract” means any construction or non-construction project or contract receiving funds or resources from the District of Columbia, or funds or resources which, in accordance with a federal grant or otherwise, the District of Columbia government administers, including contracts, grants, loans, tax abatements or exemptions, land transfers, land disposition and development agreements, tax increment financing, or any combination thereof, that is valued at $300,000 or more. See D.C. Code § 2-219.01(5).
9 See D.C. Code § 2-219.03(e)(1A)(a).
10 See D.C. Code § 2-219.03(e)(1A)(D).
11 See D.C. Code § 2-219.03(e)(1A)(F).
• Disclosure of past compliance with the Workforce Act and the Davis-Bacon Act of 1931, where applicable, on projects or contracts completed within the last two years.

These plans are to be evaluated and scored by the Mayor, based on the above requirements, and shall be worth 10 percent of the overall score of the bid or proposal.

Law Requirements for Companies Awarded a Construction Contract or Project

The winning bidder on a contract or project has an additional requirement to submit a revised employment plan which includes, but is not limited to:

- A projection of the total number of hours to be worked on the project or contract by trade.
- A projection of labor hours per labor category in the construction industry.
- A description of skill requirements by job title or position.
- Strategies to fill the hours by DC residents prior to beginning work on the project.

Law Requirements for Submission of Final Request for Payment

With the submission of the final request for payment from the District, beneficiaries are required to submit a report to the Mayor that documents its compliance with hiring requirements or submit a request to the Mayor for a waiver of compliance.  This request for a waiver shall include the following documentation:

- Material supporting a good-faith effort to comply.
- Referrals provided by DOES and other referral sources.
- Advertisement of job openings listed with DOES and other referral sources.

The Mayor may waive hiring requirements if the Mayor finds that:

- DOES has certified that a good-faith effort to comply has been demonstrated by the beneficiary.
- The beneficiary is located outside the Washington Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area.
  - None of the contract work is performed inside the Washington Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area.
  - The beneficiary published each job opening or part-time work need for seven calendar days in a District newspaper of city-wide circulation.
  - DOES certifies that there are insufficient eligible applicants from the First Source Register that possess the skills required by the positions, or the eligible applicants are not available for part-time work or do not have a means to travel to the onsite job, or
- The beneficiary enters into a special workforce development training or placement arrangement with DOES.

12 Id.

13 See D.C. Code § 2-219.03(e)(2)

DOES is required to consider the following when determining a good-faith effort to comply:

- Whether DOES has certified that there is an insufficient number of District residents in the labor market who possess the skills required to fill the positions that were created because of the project or contract.
- Whether the beneficiary posted the jobs on the DOES website for a minimum of 10 calendar days.
- Whether the beneficiary posted each job opening or part-time work needed in a District newspaper with city-wide circulation for a minimum of seven calendar days.
- Whether the beneficiary has substantially complied with the relevant monthly reporting requirements.
- Whether the beneficiary has submitted and substantially complied with its most recent employment plan that has been approved by DOES.
- Any additional documented efforts.\(^{15}\)

Penalties Established by Law

The Law establishes penalties for failure to meet specific hiring requirements. If a contractor or subcontractor is not able to achieve the 51 percent new hire or any of the other percentages requirements for the different labor categories, the contractor is subject to a penalty of 1/8 of 1 percent of the direct and indirect labor costs of the project for each percentage by which the contractor fails to meet the hiring requirements.

The Law also establishes a penalty of 5 percent of the total amount of the direct and indirect labor costs of the project or contract for a willful breach of the employment agreement, failure to submit required monthly reports, or deliberate submission of falsified data. Last, the Law states that upon the second violation within a 10-year time frame of the required hiring or reporting requirements or failure to receive a good-faith waiver from DOES the Mayor shall debar a person or entity from consideration for award of contracts or subcontracts with the District of Columbia for a period of not more than five years.\(^{16}\)

Office of First Source Compliance Duties

The Law established the Office of First Source Compliance (OFSC) as a single administrative unit in DOES.\(^{17}\) According to the Law, the main functions of OFSC are to:

- Monitor and track each beneficiary of government assisted projects in the District to ensure compliance with the First Source Agreement.
- Ensure that each beneficiary who is presently working on a governmental-assisted project or is bidding on a governmental-assisted project is in compliance with the First Source Agreement.
- Require the beneficiary to submit to the Office a report on the 15\(^{th}\) of each month on a form proposed by the Mayor.
- Submit to the Council and the Mayor a quarterly report on a form proposed by the Mayor.\(^{18}\)

Prior to October 2016, OFSC was located in the DOES’ Office of Employer Services. OFSC moved to the Office of Labor Law Enforcement (OLLE) in FY 2017. With the move, came new leadership. The new leadership developed a First Source Operations Plan and a new six-month strategic operation achievement plan, attached as Appendices A and B, respectively.

\(^{15}\) See D.C. Code § 2-219.03(e)(3)(B).
\(^{16}\) See D.C. Code § 2-219.03(e)(4).
\(^{17}\) See D.C. Code § 2-219.33.
\(^{18}\) See D.C. Code § 2-219.34.
Currently there are three monitors and a supervisor in OFSC. According to DOES these monitors and supervisor currently monitor 864 employment agreements related to 280 contracts or projects in both the construction and non-construction sectors.

Reports

The Law requires that the Mayor submit a report to the Council of the District of Columbia on January 31st and July 31st of each year. The report shall include for each preceding six-month period: (1) the number of government-assisted projects or contracts for which employment agreements were executed; (2) the number of jobs that result from employment agreements; (3) the number of District residents employed in government-assisted projects or contracts; and (4) the number of names of unemployed District residents on the First Source Register.\(^{19}\)

Overall, the Law includes 48 significant requirements that impact the Mayor, contracting agencies and DOES. It should be noted that the fiscal impact statement prepared by the Chief Financial Officer indicated that there were sufficient funds available in the FY 2012 to FY 2015 budgets to implement the provisions of the “Workforce Intermediary Establishment and Reform of First Source Amendment Act of 2011” (the Act).\(^{20}\)

In November 2016 ODCA initiated and completed an audit to determine:

1. Whether DOES has necessary policies and procedures in place to effectively monitor, enforce, and is enforcing compliance of First Source Law requirements.

2. If necessary controls are in place to accurately report hiring rates required under the Law.

Because First Source has been such a long-standing program in the District, we also conducted additional analysis which is included in this white paper to assess whether all the requirements of the Law have been implemented, and whether policies and procedures are in place to effectively implement all the requirements of the Law. This white paper also includes:

- A comparison of the District’s First Source Program to other jurisdictions and best practices.
- The employment projections and hiring statistics for the 27 projects or contracts included in our audit sample.
- An assessment of the final policies and procedures submitted by DOES on March 14, 2018.
- The compliance status of recommendations related to the First Source Program cited in our August 1, 2016, report entitled District Agencies Did Not Provide Sufficient Oversight of Private Development Projects and Have Not Collected Potentially Significant Fines.\(^{21}\)

\(^{19}\) See D.C. Code § 2-219.04.

\(^{20}\) The “Workforce Intermediary Establishment and Reform of First Source Amendment Act of 2011” (B19-0050, Law 19-0084) became effective on February 24, 2012. According to the Chief Financial Officer (CFO), the legislation was expected to cost $267,400 in FY 2012 and $682,527 (which included $400,00 to upgrade IT systems) over the FY 2012 through FY 2015 budget and financial plan. Funds available from the District’s short-term borrowing fund would be reprogrammed by the Mayor to cover the cost of implementation. The CFO further indicated that the enhanced reporting requirements for projects receiving $5 million or more in assistance would require an additional compliance officer.

Scope and Methodology

Scope

The period under analysis was FY 2014 through FY 2016 (October 1, 2013, through September 30, 2016). The sample size of the audit was a mix of varying contracts or projects receiving government assistance from the District. Our stratified random sample included construction, retail, non-construction, and mixed-development contracts or projects. We chose a random sample to include a mix of construction and non-construction projects, and varied forms of government assistance. We included 27 contracts/projects in our sample that encompassed a review of 235 available employment agreements with general contractors, subcontractors, and other businesses found in DOES' records. The contracts/projects in our sample received government assistance either through contracts, tax abatements, or Tax Increment Financing (TIF). Figure 1 provides a list of the contracts or projects in our sample.

Eight of the 27 projects in our sample started in the scope period but are still ongoing.

Methodology

To determine whether the requirements of the Law have been implemented and whether policies and procedures were in place to effectively implement the Law, we specifically:

- Reviewed each significant requirement of the Law.
- Conducted interviews with OFSC staff on each of the significant requirements of the Law to determine if each requirement had been met.
- Requested and reviewed available Standard Operating Procedures.
- Documented monitoring procedures from both supervisor and monitors’ verbal accounts.
- To determine employment projections and hiring statistics for the 27 contracts or projects in our sample, we reviewed available employment agreements and available required monthly report submissions.
Results

Despite being in effect for numerous years, significant requirements of the law have not been implemented or are not being implemented effectively.

As previously stated, we identified 48 Law requirements that impact the Mayor, contracting agencies and DOES. We evaluated the status of each requirement using the following classifications.

</tbody>

Overall, we found that 39, or 81 percent, of the 48 requirements were either not implemented or not implemented effectively. This may be attributed to many reasons, including but perhaps not limited to:

- A failure of the Mayor to implement many of the requirements of the Law in a timely manner.\(^{22}\)
- A failure of former DOES senior officials to effectively implement requirements of the Law, at their own discretion, most specifically related to the assessment and issuance of allowable penalties.
- A failure of coordination among numerous District agencies to ensure effective implementation. This deficiency was cited in the Auditor’s August 1, 2016, report entitled “District Agencies Did Not Provide Sufficient Oversight of Private Development Projects and Have Not Collected Potentially Significant Fines”.\(^{23}\) The Auditor made specific recommendations in the 2016 report and will discuss implementation of these recommendations later in this report.
- A failure in the Law to clearly delegate specific responsibilities to District agencies or to the beneficiaries receiving government assistance.
- A lack of sufficient resources to effectively monitor the program.

Examples of some of the law’s 48 provisions that have not been implemented or not implemented effectively:

- DOES is not able to determine that contractors are giving first preference to unemployed District residents because the source of job referrals has not been consistently reported.

\(^{22}\) Mayor’s Order 2018-010 was issued January 10, 2018 delegating many of the Mayor’s responsibilities. However, for purposes of this report, we discussed rules and responsibilities that were in effect during the scope of our review.

\(^{23}\) http://www.dcauditor.org/sites/default/files/Private%20Development%20Review%20Letter%20Report%208%20%2016%20%20FINAL.pdf
• The requirement to have an employment agreement on file with all First Source contractors has not been consistently met. Of the 124 contracts over $300,000 awarded by the Department of General Services in FY 2016 ODCA could not find employment agreements at DOES for 30 of these awards, which totaled $22 million in government assistance.
• The law requires hiring compliance forms to be filed with DOES each month following the start of the contract or project, and from the sample of 27 projects reviewed by ODCA, not a single DOES-created monthly reporting form was submitted containing all 11 required reporting elements.
• A beneficiary’s revised employment plan is required once the contract or project has been given final approval. At the time of our review, DOES indicated that they had never received a copy of a single revised employment plan.
• Contractors are required to submit a report detailing compliance with provisions of the law, or seeking a waiver of compliance, as part of the final request for payment from the District and DOES conceded this requirement was not met during the period of our review.

A detailed analysis of the implementation status of the law’s provisions is included as Appendix C.

The District has some of the most stringent first source or local job hiring law requirements and has failed to conduct regular reviews and assessments of hiring rates as is common in other jurisdictions.

In addition to the District of Columbia, we reviewed five other jurisdictions that have first source or local job hiring policies: Boston, St. Louis, San Francisco, Seattle, and Baltimore. The following factors were taken into consideration when comparing and analyzing the cities we reviewed that still have first source or priority job hiring policies. They included:

• Contract or project amount subject to first source or job policy.
• Specific employment requirements.
• Penalty for not achieving hiring or percentage requirements.

As can be seen from the table, the District has some of the most stringent first source or local job hiring law requirements with no other jurisdiction (besides Baltimore) having a requirement that 51 percent of new hires be local residents. As previously stated, as written, this requirement for the District applies only to new positions created that are not immediately filled by individuals already on the payroll of the contractor (e.g. a transfer of a current employee working on another project of the beneficiary). This is in contradiction to a general perception that 51 percent of all employees working for contractor receiving government assistance shall be District residents.

As evidenced, in the section of this report detailing projected hires and actual hires, many of the employment plans attached to the employment agreements we reviewed projected few or no new hires.

Bean, Kinney & Korman, PC, a local legal firm that has experience representing construction industry clients with contract issues and litigation in Northern Virginia, Maryland and the Washington, D.C., area, had concerns with amendments to the First Source Law expressing in a 2012 article that:

“One of the challenges for parties subject to the First Source Act has always been eliminating the perception that construction jobs require no skill and can be performed by anyone. Another challenge is that the mechanisms in place to assist beneficiaries in filling vacancies do not always assure beneficiaries’ ability to comply with the law. Contractors should be able to look to DOES for a bank of qualified persons for construction jobs, as well as assistance when the contractor’s own recruitment efforts do not produce the desired results of a qualified labor pool. Success in that area has not always been consistent.

“The Amended First Source Act has caused concern throughout the construction community. It is not an uncommon sentiment that smaller employers will not be able to meet the reporting requirements due to the fact that either the personnel necessary to compile the data are not in place or the cost to maintain the records will add to the bottom line costs that must be passed on to owners of projects. Additionally, opponents of the legislation are adamant that the mandatory hiring percentages are impossible for any sized employer to meet given the limited number of District residents that are qualified and/or have the skills to work in the construction industry. Finally, those persons who might otherwise be hired to work on a project but are not District residents will be denied the opportunity to work on construction projects for which they might otherwise have been eligible.

“It remains to be seen whether the Amended First Source Act will result in increased job opportunities for District residents or the demise of contracting businesses for failure to comply with the requirements of the law.

One thing is certain – if you plan to do business in the District, it is essential you familiarize yourself with the requirements of the Amended First Source Act in order to make an intelligent bid for work and to navigate safely through the procedural requirements that could have a lasting impact on your ability to participate in future projects, whether within the District or another jurisdiction.”

Most cities in our review implemented a progressive labor hour percentage requirement rather than a number of locals hired requirement. This helps ensure transparency in terms of actual work performed and avoids the risks that a “head count” creates, such as contractors hiring a worker for one day to improve their hiring. We found that San Francisco came closest to achieving the percentages outlined in its first source law. This may have been achieved by phasing in the percentage requirements for the program over many years and reevaluating these percentages on a regular basis. In the start of its program, 20 percent was required and increased by 5 percent each year. The first year San Francisco implemented the 20 percent requirement (2014), it achieved 33 percent. The second year the city implemented a 25 percent requirement and achieved 34 percent (2015). The third year the city implemented a 30 percent requirement and achieved 4 percent (2016). We found that Seattle also reviews their percentage hour requirements on a regular basis based upon past performance.

We found that the District has failed to implement one of the key requirements of the Law about assessing the percentage requirements. Although the District is required to review and assess the percentage hiring and reporting requirements once every three years, this has not been done. Specifically, the law requires that within one year of Feb. 24, 2012, the Mayor is to review the hiring and reporting requirements to determine the appropriateness of each percentage and make relevant findings of the determination in a report to the Council. After initial submission of this report, the Mayor shall regularly, but at least once every three years, conduct a new review of the hiring and reporting requirements to determine appropriateness of each percentage and make relevant findings of the determination in a report to the Council.

The published results of the efforts made by the other jurisdictions in implementing first source or local job hiring requirements for the scope of our review are presented in Figure 4.

Hiring statistics submitted by beneficiaries and reported by DOES are not effectively tracked or thoroughly verified and may not provide a valid presentation of the effectiveness of the First Source Program.

As discussed in our methodology section, to determine employment projections and hiring statistics for the 27 contracts or projects in our sample, we reviewed available employment agreements, DOES hiring statistics and beneficiaries’ monthly report submissions. For our review, we developed a checklist for each of the contracts or projects in our sample. Most of the records we were attempting to review should have been maintained in the normal course of business to ensure that an adequate audit trail could be maintained. This checklist was used to determine:

- The total level of District government assistance the beneficiary received.
- Whether there were signed employment agreements for required contractors, developers, general contractors and subcontractors.
- Whether an employment plan was attached to employment agreements as required by DOES.
- Whether monthly report submissions were adequately maintained to accurately determine hiring achievements.

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Checklist Item</th>
<th>Deficiencies</th>

<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Total level of District government assistance</td>
<td>We were unable to verify the total level of government assistance due to the lack of accurate documentation. We identified signed and approved agreements that did not contain the contract amount, contract number or the amount of the tax abatement received all fields required on the agreement form. We also identified agreements that listed only “estimated amounts” for the contract amount and estimated dates for the start and end of the project.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Signed agreements for required contractors, developers, general contractors and subcontractors</td>
<td>We were unable to determine if DOES maintained a signed agreement for all contractors and subcontractors. For example, we identified a project where subcontractors were submitting monthly certified payroll reports but we could not find a signed employment agreement in DOES files. We found that for most of the large construction projects, the general contractor subcontracts out most of the construction work. We found in some cases general contractors were subcontracting work and the subcontractor did not have an employment agreement with DOES. In one particular case (Duke Ellington) our review of DOES monitoring files documented only 11 employment agreements. During our review of the monthly reports submitted for the project we found 53 subcontractors that were submitting monthly reports, but did not have an employment agreement on file with DOES. According to DOES, the responsibility to inform DOES of a beneficiary rests mainly with the contracting agency, the developer or the general contractor.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Employment plans attached to employment agreements</td>
<td>We found that most of approved and signed agreements we reviewed contained employment plans. We identified plans, however, that did not provide a list of current employees, a list of projected positions, or justification for why no jobs would be created—all required fields on the DOES-developed employment plan form.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Maintenance of monthly report submissions to accurately determine hiring rates</td>
<td>We found significant issues with data consisting mainly of the failure of DOES to track certain contracts and missing monthly reports for each project. We identified three IDIQ contracts in our sample that were subject to a first source agreement, yet DOES did not collect or maintain monthly report submissions for these contracts. Our analysis was further hampered because</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
we could not determine an accurate number of missing reports because we do not know the start and end dates of work for each subcontractor and were only able to calculate hiring rates based on the first monthly report submitted and last report submitted. DOES did not maintain a copy of monthly reports in the hard copy files for 26 of the 27 projects in our sample.

In addition to missing monthly reports many employers submitted reports that lacked documentation to substantiate reported hiring statistics. For example, specific to the Adams Morgan Line Hotel, we found that 15 of 29 employers that submitted reports that indicated 172 DC residents were working on the project did not provide a listing of the employees including the name, address, date of hire and ward of the hired employee.

It should also be noted for the Adams Morgan Line Hotel different forms were used during specific time periods in our audit. For example, for July, August and September of 2016 employers were only required to provide cumulative hours worked. Below is an example of a monthly reporting form submitted by an employer.

Source: DOES, Subcontractor Tax Abatement Contract Compliance Form

The DOES reporting form indicated that information in the report would be “verified via certified payrolls and/or other documentation,” however we found no indication in DOES files to document this verification.

Based on the available documentation we calculated that the beneficiaries of the 27 contracts or projects in our sample projected 342 new District resident hires.

Based on monthly report submission by beneficiaries we further calculated that 3,848 District residents were hired. We found, however, there is no tracking done by DOES to determine how long a new hire stays employed. The Law does not require (and DOES does not perform) tracking of hiring rates for trend analysis to measure the effectiveness of beneficiaries in keeping District residents employed once they are hired.

In viewing the hiring statistics, the reader should note that the number of “new hires” presents a snapshot in time. This is especially noteworthy for construction projects such as the school modernization projects and development projects in our sample. These projects are conducted in phases, with numerous subcontractors performing work during each respective phase. Some of the subcontractors may perform work for one month while others may perform work for more than a year. For purposes of reporting hiring statistics to the Council and the public, an employee hired on the project for one month and terminated after their employer’s work is completed on the project is presented in the same way as an employee hired by the subcontractor and remaining gainfully employed for the full year as a “new hire”.

We further found, at the time of our review, DOES did not have a standardized practice for validating a beneficiary’s monthly report submission through a review of a beneficiary’s payroll records. As stated in our audit report, DOES accepted monthly reports that did not contain all required information such as names of employees hired, address of employees hired, and Social Security Numbers. The District relied on the self-reporting hiring statistics provided by beneficiaries without any supporting documentation.

Six non-construction projects in our sample were IDIQ contracts and DOES did not track any new hires on the contracts. In addition, due to the deficiencies in recordkeeping maintained by DOES we cannot say with any level of confidence that the number presented in the above table present the full hiring rates for each of the contracts or projects in our sample.

Figure 6 on the following page presents the number of employment agreements per contracts or project, the total projected number of new hires associated with each project, based upon available employment plans, and the number of new hires based upon monthly reports submitted by beneficiaries during the period of our review.

The Bowser Administration claims to have implemented recommendations in our August 1, 2016, report entitled “District Agencies Did Not Provide Sufficient Oversight of Private Development Projects and Have Not Collected Potentially Significant Fines” but the Mayor has not provided documentation to support implementation of a plan for ongoing coordination with relevant agencies.

In our August 1, 2016 report we provided the following recommendations to the Mayor and to the Director of DOES.

1. The Mayor should designate a single agency to (1) continuously identify all agreements signed with private developers throughout the District government and (2) develop a plan for ongoing coordination with relevant agencies to ensure that they are actively tracking compliance with each requirement, to completion.

2. The Director of DOES should develop procedures to accurately track compliance with First Source requirements and begin assessing penalties to noncompliant developers and contractors.

Regarding Recommendation 1, an official in the Office of the Deputy Mayor for Economic Development (DMPED) responded to our office that this recommendation had been implemented. The official however did not provide supporting documentation to validate the implementation of this recommendation, as requested. The Auditor will continue to follow up with DMPED to secure support documentation as part of our recommendation compliance follow up procedures.

We found that DOES finalized written policies and procedures to track compliance with First Source requirements and the assessment of penalties on March 14, 2018. DOES issued the first penalty at the beginning of FY 2017.

DOES issued standard operating procedures for the Office of First Source Compliance on March 14, 2018. These policies should be further reviewed and enhanced to ensure effective implementation.

DOES issued final Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) for the Office of First Source Compliance (OFSC) on March 14, 2018, the first SOPs since the inception of the program in 1984. Many of the procedures in the SOPs, if effectively implemented, will correct many of the monitoring and oversight deficiencies cited in our audit report and succeeding white paper. The SOPs covered critical monitoring areas including:

- Processes for obtaining and maintaining First Source Agreements.
- Obtaining and reviewing employment plans.
- Reviewing subcontractor lists of all contracts awarded on a project (company Name, contract amount, estimated start-date and end-date).
- Performing desk reviews and site visits.
- Audit of employer records that may include certified payrolls, employee addressees, and type of labor provided by employees for hours worked percentages.
- Issuing compliance failure notices, compliance status updates, and closeout letters.
- Assessing employers’ good faith efforts to hire District residents or meet hours worked percentage requirements.
- Processing fines or penalties.

- Participating in appeals as appropriate.

Our review of the SOPs identified specific areas that DOES should address during implementation of the SOPs to strengthen their effectiveness. These specific areas have been highlighted on the approved SOPs, and included at Appendix D. DOES should also analyze the current resources dedicated to the First Source Program, specifically the staffing levels for compliance monitors in relation to the detailed activities listed on pages 7 through 12 of the SOPs to ensure that these activities can be effectively be implemented. These activities specifically relate to monitoring and audit of employers and employment agreements and determination of good faith effort compliance.
Conclusion

As discussed in the background section of this white paper, in November 2016 ODCA initiated an audit to determine:

1. Whether DOES has necessary policies and procedures in place to effectively monitor, enforce, and is enforcing compliance of First Source Law requirements.

2. If necessary controls are in place to accurately report hiring rates required under the Law.

Because First Source has been such a long-standing program in the District, we conducted additional analysis, which is included in this white paper to assess whether all the requirements of the Law have been implemented and whether policies and procedures are in place to effectively implement all the requirements of the Law. This white paper also includes:

- A comparison of the District’s First Source Program to other jurisdictions and best practices.
- The employment projections and hiring statistics for the 27 projects or contracts included in our audit sample.
- An assessment of the final policies and procedures submitted by DOES on March 14, 2018.
- The compliance status of recommendations related to the First Source Program cited in our August 1, 2016, report entitled District Agencies Did Not Provide Sufficient Oversight of Private Development Projects and Have Not Collected Potentially Significant Fines.37

We were encouraged by DOES’s response to this white paper in that they concurred with many of the recommendations and expressed that certain actions were in progress to address deficiencies cited in this report.

Re: Draft Report entitled, “DOES Lacks Policies and Procedures to Effectively Monitor D.C.’s First Source Program” and white paper entitled, “Fewer than One-Fifth of First Source Provisions Have Been Effectively Implemented and the District Has Not Demonstrated Success in Hiring and Retaining District Employees”

Dear Ms. Patterson:

The Department of Employment Services (DOES) is in receipt of the above-mentioned draft report and white paper prepared after the audit of the DOES Office of First Source Compliance (OFSC) for fiscal years 2014 through 2016. Although the audit and whitepaper reviews compliance activities from fiscal years 2014-2016, it misses the mark on adequately describing the progress made from fiscal years 2017 to present. Here within, is a substantive outline of initial progress made in the current fiscal year and responses to findings and recommendation.

The Office of First Source Compliance was created through the Workforce Intermediary Establishment and Reform of First Source Act of 2011 (Act) and is charged with enforcing compliance with the Act. The Act requires beneficiaries to hire District residents for 51% of all new jobs created for all projects or contracts receiving government assistance totaling between $300,000 and $5,000,000. Further, the Act mandates minimum hours worked percentages for District residents on construction projects or contracts receiving government assistance of $5,000,000 or more.

Over the past year, DOES made great strides in the development and implementation of a strategic course correction for the Office of First Source; these efforts included the realignment of the Office of Wage Hour within the agency that focused on both compliance and enforcement and the development of a six month operations plan. This plan addressed the following:

- Ensuring that the First Source staff made informed compliance decisions and enforcement actions supported by complete, accurate and valid data
- Establishing internal operational processes and procedures for all FS related duties and responsibilities
• Improving staff effectiveness through continuing education and training requirements and innovative tools and technology
• Connecting stakeholders and aligning them with strong compliance and monitoring practices and principles

Also, an achievement plan was developed and implemented to record and monitor the plan outcomes. For the first time in over 20 years, the agency has developed Standard Operating Procedures which provide clarity of roles for the public and the District as well clear policies and procedures. This year marked the first time ever that the agency levied fines for non-compliance. The agency anticipates the release of the proposed rules within the next 30 days. Albeit, the progress made in a relatively short period of time is outside of the audit period, it is important to note that the actions listed above provide an important course correction with implementing and providing oversight of the First Source law.

Audit Result: DOES was not monitoring all beneficiaries required to enter into a First Source employment agreement.

This audit result correlates with item 2 in Appendix C of the white paper. Item 2 indicates that D.C. Code § 2-219.03(c) has not been effectively implemented. D.C. Code § 2-219.03(c) states, “The Mayor shall transmit each employment agreement to the Department of Employment Services no less than 7 calendar days in advance of the project or contract start date, whichever is later, and no work associated with the relevant government assistance can begin on a project or contract until the employment agreement has been accepted by the Department of Employment Services.”

DOES Response:

DOES OFSC monitored and continues to monitor every project or contract that is subject to the Act, when the employment agreement is provided to DOES by the Office of Contracting and Procurement (OCP) and agencies with independent contracting authority, pursuant to the Act.

DOES uses several methods to identify projects and contracts subject to the Act.

• On a daily basis, DOES receives employment agreements from OCP and agencies with independent contracting authority, during the bidding process for projects and contracts. Bidders for projects and contracts sign and submit an employment agreement to OCP and agencies with independent contracting authority, as a part of the bidding process. Through this process, employment agreements are signed and provided to DOES, prior to contract award. Thus, employment agreements are entered into before finalization of contract award as suggested in the first bullet point under Recommendation 1 found on page 10 of the draft report.

- DOES receives notifications about projects and contracts in the Procurement Automated Support System (PASS) that are subject to the Act, as they are developed. DOES uses the information to begin monitoring high profile employment agreements received during the bidding process. DOES also uses this information to contact contracting agencies and beneficiaries to obtain employment agreements, if not previously provided.

- DOES coordinates monthly with OCP staff assigned to DOES to receive information about projects and contracts in the Procurement Automated Support System (PASS) that are subject to the Act. DOES uses the information to begin monitoring employment agreements received during the bidding process. DOES also uses this information to contact contracting agencies and beneficiaries to obtain employment agreements, if not previously provided. The OCP staff assigned to DOES serve as the “watcher” identified in Recommendation 3 on page 11 of the draft report.

- DOES OFSC requests updated lists of awarded contracts from OCP and agencies with independent contracting authority, monthly.

- DOES OFSC proposed regulations, to be published, that will require District contracting agencies to submit updated lists of awarded contracts on the 1st of each month.

- Deputy Mayor for Planning and Economics (DMPED) provides DOES OFSC a quarterly check-in compliance report of their current projects that are subject to the Act.

- DOES OFSC meets with developers and general contractors to discuss the applicable requirements of the Act, according to their funding amount, and to gain other updates such as, estimated start dates, related contract controls, and to provide information on DOES referral recruitment. OFSC also requests from the General Contractors a list of the subcontractors awarded.

- To increase awareness of the requirements of the Act around submission of the employment agreements to DOES, DOES OFSC implemented a formal “train-the-trainer” initiative that allows the opportunity for DOES OFSC to discuss procedure and compliance requirements with the personnel of OCP and agencies with independent contracting authority. Two sessions were held – June 15, 2017 and March 7, 2018.

The above actions will increase knowledge of and compliance with the requirements of the Act.

Audit Result: DOES OFSC lacks written policies and procedures which lead to inconsistencies in monitoring efforts making it difficult to evaluate the effectiveness of the program in providing employment to district residents.

This audit result correlates with item 1 in Appendix C of the white paper. Item 1 indicates that D.C. Code § 2-219.03(a) has not been effectively implemented. D.C. Code § 2-219.03(a) states, "The Mayor shall include for every government-assisted project or contract a requirement that the beneficiary enter into an employment agreement with the District of Columbia government which states that: (1) The first source for finding employees to fill all jobs created by the government-assisted project or contract will be the First Source Register; and (2) The first source for finding employees to fill any vacancy occurring in all jobs covered by an employment agreement will be the First Source Register."

DOES Response:

DOES established formal Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) certified as legally sufficient on March 12, 2018. The SOP was developed after a rigorous review of best practices from other jurisdictions as well as an assessment of current practices. The SOP also encompasses the collective wisdom of the staff and lessons learned from prior years of monitoring projects and contracts. It also encompasses a penalty and standardized monitoring process.

Before the formal SOP signed by the DOES Director, OFSC operated pursuant to an informal written SOP, since its creation (See Exhibit B). Further, staff meetings were held monthly to discuss monitoring and enforcement issues and resolutions. In addition, staff met with the Office of the General Counsel to address monitoring and enforcement issues and resolutions, as needed.

Monitoring has varied and will continue to vary from project to project. Monitoring rigorousness and frequency depends on a number of factors including the size of the project, compliance with hiring or hours worked percentages, and the reporting structure chosen by the general contractor. The general contractor can choose to report requirements for the whole project or by each individual subcontractor.

See Exhibit C which details the reporting process that includes screenshots of the First Source Online Registration and Reporting System (FORRS), and the Employer user guide. Beneficiaries are routinely trained on how to input the required information. Note that the portal or FORRS system will not accept a submission unless all the required information is inputted.

Note that FORRS also tracks agreements by the Beneficiary as well as the project. The reports generated by FORRS detail the number of job openings created by employee attrition, and capture the employees’ SSN and hire date; however, the referral source data is currently in development stage to be captured in FORRS.

The direct and indirect labor costs are captured to assess the amount of the penalty for violation. This is generally not collected monthly because fines are assessed at the end of the project or contract. Thus, the direct and indirect costs are collected for the total project at the end of the project. Moving forward the OFSC will be capturing the direct and indirect labor cost in FORRS on a monthly basis.
DOES uses the below methods to ensure the completeness and accuracy of the information provided in the monthly reports by employers.

- Site visits
- Review of payroll records
- Social security verification
- Surveys
- Desk reviews - OFSC conducts periodic desk reviews to confirm that all documentation is complete and accurate including a signed First Source agreement, the Subcontractor award list, verification that Contractors are reporting online in the FORRS and that they are including employment plan projections, and the start and end date for the scope of work. OFSC will also conduct the desk review to verify that the Contractor is meeting the requirements for hiring and hours worked percentages. Once the review process concludes, OFSC monitors work with the Contractors to develop a corrective action plan and will perform follow-up as needed. A sample desk review form can be found in Exhibit D.

The direct and indirect labor costs are captured to assess the amount of the penalty for violation. This is generally not collected monthly because fines are assessed at the end of the project or contract. Thus, the direct and indirect costs are collected for the total project at the end of the project. Moving forward the OFSC will be capturing the direct and indirect labor cost in FORRS on a monthly basis.

DOES formed an internal committee across various offices within the agency to coordinate and manage the referral of District residents from the first source registry to fill jobs created by projects and contracts subject to the Act. The committee meets weekly to discuss best practices for identifying and designating jobs created by projects and contracts subject to the Act in DC Networks, matching District residents with the jobs created by projects and contracts subject to the Act, and tracking the referrals and outcomes of referrals of District residents to jobs created by projects and contracts subject to the Act. It is anticipated that this coordinated management will result in (1) an increase in the designation of jobs in DC Networks as created by projects and contracts subject to the Act; (2) an increase in referral of District residents from the first source registry to jobs created by projects and contracts subject to the Act; and (3) improved tracking of referrals of District residents from the first source registry.

Also, on April 15, 2018, DOES will begin using a communications system designed to send job alerts to unemployed District residents. In addition, District residents registered with the DOES American Job Center will be advised of jobs created by projects and contracts subject to the Act directly from their assigned case managers. DOES continues to seek, and internally develop, new methods through which it can inform unemployed District residents of jobs created by projects and contracts subject to the Act.

Audit Result: DOES OFSC has not demonstrated effective policies and procedures to enforce penalties.

DOES Response: this addresses Recommendations 6 and 7 found on page 13

The Mayor's Order, signed on January 10, 2018, clarified the role of OFSC in issuing fines for violations of First Source law and the ability to accept or deny the waiver request of Beneficiaries of government assistance falling under First Source. Absent the Mayor's Order, the law was ambiguous on whether the contracting agency or OFSC would pursue the penalty for violation, and whether OFSC or the Mayor had the authority to grant a good-faith waiver for failure to meet First Source requirements. In the past, notices were copied or forwarded to DGS and other contracting agencies regarding noncompliance of beneficiaries. (See Exhibit 1)

Under the new SOP, OFSC issued penalties to contractors alleged to have violated the Act. As of December 2016, DOES imposed penalties against employers determined to be in violation of the Act. As a result, $61,279.56 has been collected and deposited into the Job Training Fund. Going forward, DOES intends to impose penalties against violators with increasing regularity.

Furthermore, some Beneficiaries have either voluntarily contributed to the Job Training Fund or created workforce development programs to provide training to District residents.

DOES has also formed an internal inter-office committee to review beneficiaries' requests for waiver of the hiring or hours worked percentages requirement of the Act, based on good faith efforts. If a beneficiary is successful in receiving a waiver of the hiring or hours worked percentages requirement of the Act, fines are not imposed.

Audit Result: First Source semiannual reports did not contain all information required by D.C. law, cannot be validated, and do not provide a comprehensive picture of hiring statistics.
DOES Response:

The semiannual reports submitted for the audit period contained all information required by the Act. The First Source Register contains the list of unemployed D.C. residents. Records below include the list of Beneficiaries or their subcontractors and the list of District residents hired on their projects (See Exhibit F).

- January 1, 2015 to June 30, 2015; See Attachment
- July 1, 2015 to December 31, 2015; See Attachment
- January 1, 2016 to June 30, 2016; See Attachment
- July 1, 2016 to December 31, 2016. See Attachment

July 1, 2015 – December 31, 2016 each of these reports are accompanied with the lists of unemployed D.C. residents that are registered on the First Source Register (D.C. networks).

Attach Beneficiaries are in the Semi Annual Report backup data.

The Office of the District of Columbia Auditor (ODCA) conducted an audit focusing on the period of FY14 through FY16 to determine the effectiveness of First Source compliance procedures. The audit suggests deficiencies in the implementation and enforcement of the First Source Law. ODCA has provided its findings in the form of a white paper entitled, Fewer Than One-Fifth of First Source Provisions Have Been Effectively Implemented and the District Has Not Demonstrated Success in Hiring and Retaining District Employees (the Report).

While DOES appreciates the efforts of ODCA in compiling this report, it must respectfully differ from ODCA regarding its conclusions on the key points as outlined under “Results” on page 10 of the report. DOES submits its written response to ODCA’s report as follows:

I. A failure of the Mayor to implement many of the requirements of the law.12

1 ODCA First Source Audit Report Draft, dated April 2, 2018, pg. 10, 12,
The Mayor recognizes the importance of establishing policies designed to strengthen compliance with the First Source Law. To that end, OFSC has developed a new Standard Operating Procedure and Operations Plan and under the current Mayor OFSC levied the first source fine in the program’s 20 year history. These procedures will increase the effectiveness with which OFSC monitors, and enforces, compliance with the provisions of the Law. As ODCA noted on page 26 of the Report, “[m]any of the procedures in the SOPs, if effectively implemented, will correct many of the monitoring and oversight deficiencies cited in our audit report and succeeding white paper.” These plans have undergone DOES legal review and have been deemed legally sufficient.

Further, both DOES and OFSC have come under new leadership since the scope of time for which the Report is concerned. New leadership has taken significant steps to enhance First Source monitoring capabilities. For instance, DOES will soon hire additional staff to help expand its monitoring, and general enforcement, capabilities. DOES will continue to assess the progress and effectiveness of OFSC as it strives to enforcement compliance with the Law.

II. A failure of former DOES senior officials to effectively implement requirements of the Law, at their own discretion, most specifically related to the assessment of allowable penalties.\(^3\)

As of December 2016, DOES began imposing penalties against companies determined to be in violation of the First Source Law. As a result of this new policy, $61,279.56 has been collected and deposited into the Job Training Fund. Going forward, DOES intends to impose penalties against violators with increasing regularity.

III. A failure of coordination among numerous District agencies to ensure effective implementation.\(^4\)

In an effort to ensure effective implementation of the First Source Law, DOES has collaborated with multiple District agencies to raise awareness about the Law. Particularly, DOES, along with other District agencies, have hosted numerous webinars and training events focusing on the First Source Law. The following events were presented in FY17 and FY18:

\(^2\) As ODCA’s report acknowledges, “Mayor’s Order 2018-010 was issued January 10, 2018 delegating many of the Mayor’s responsibilities.” Mirroring ODCA’s approach, DOES’ response will assume the “rules and responsibilities that were in effect during the scope” of ODCA’s review.

Further, within the drafted municipal regulations for First Source law, the Department of General Services must provide a list of contract awards over $300,000 to DOES on the 1st of each month. Further coordination and education efforts are underway with District agencies that issue contract awards.

IV. A failure in the Law to clearly delegate specific responsibilities to District agencies or to the beneficiaries receiving government assistance.

Lawmaking, and the failure of any law to “clearly delegate specific responsibilities”, is the province of Council. For the purposes of this response, DOES takes no position with regard to this OCDA finding.

However, in order to aid with the delegation of specific duties under the Law, the Mayor has issued Mayor’s Order 2018-010⁵. Drawing from the responsibilities clearly delegated to the Mayor under the Law, Mayor’s Order 2018-010 makes clear delegation of specific responsibilities to appropriate officials within District government.

V. A lack of sufficient resources to effectively monitor the program.

DOES recognizes the need for increased staff resources within OFSC and has assigned two additional positions to assist the Office with its monitoring efforts.

⁵ Please see Exhibit E.
VI.  DOES is not able to determine that contractors are giving first preference to District residents because the source of job referrals has not been consistently reported.

To clarify, D.C. Code § 2-219.03(b) (1) requires that first preference be given to unemployed District residents and not District residents whom may be employed. DOES is currently updating the coding in the First Source register to distinguish between residents registered as unemployed and presently employed residents.

On April 15, 2018 DOES will begin using a communications system designed to send First Source job alerts to unemployed District residents. In addition, residents registered with DOES’ American Job Center, will be advised of First Source related opportunities directly from their assigned case managers. DOES continues to seek, and internally develop, new methods through which it can inform unemployed District residents of opportunities available to them pursuant to the First Source Law.

VII. The requirement to have an employment agreement on file with all First Source contractors has not been consistently met. Of the 124 contracts over $300,000 awarded by the Department of General Services in FY 2016 ODCA could not find employment agreements at DOES for 30 of these awards, which totaled $22 million in government assistance.

While the agency appreciates ODCA’s efforts in researching this finding, the facts uncovered are not strictly within the control of DOES. DOES is working diligently with the Department of General Services to ensure that DOES is apprised of all contracts and projects requiring a First Source Employment Agreement. Moreover, DOES and DGS are fully committed to ensuring that each contract and project contemplated by the First Source Law will include the required First Source Employment Agreement.

VIII. The law requires hiring compliance forms to be filed with DOES each month following the start of the contract or project, and from the sample of 27 projects reviewed by ODCA, not a single monthly reporting form was submitted containing all 11 required reporting elements.

DOES has recently implemented a new electronic reporting system which mandates submission of data corresponding to each of the 11 required reporting elements. Employers will be required to make submissions once monthly.

To clarify, however, there is no First Source Contract or Project that would require all 11 reporting requirements. A Contract or Project would either be between $300,000 and $5,000,000 requiring the 7 points of data, or be in excess of $5,000,000 and require the 4 points of data concerning the hours worked percentages.

Please see Exhibit C for an example of the newly adopted electronic form.

4058 Minnesota Avenue, NE • Suite 5000 • Washington, D.C. 20019 • Office: 202-671-1990
Further, although First Source law requires a monthly report of a Contract’s or Project’s indirect and direct labor cost, this information is only used to assess a penalty, if applicable, at the end of the project. DOES made an economic decision to require this information upon the issuance of a penalty for failure to report monthly or failure to meet the applicable requirements at the project’s end.

IX. A beneficiary’s revised employment plan is required once the contract or project has been given final approval. At the time of our review, DOES indicated that they had never received a copy of a single revised employment plan.

OFSC’s new SOP includes procedures for ensuring compliance with the First Source Law’s revised employment plan provision. Additionally, OFSC now requires beneficiaries to complete a revised employment plan form. However, OFSC has always received with Employment Plans attached that demonstrated hiring projections of new hires that were also submitted to the DOES Business Services Group to make District resident referrals or, in some cases, work in partnership with the Beneficiary to conduct a hiring fair.

X. Contractors are required to submit a report detailing compliance with provisions of the law, or seeking a waiver of compliance, as part of the final request for payment from the District and DOES conceded this requirement has not been met.

DOES takes compliance with the First Source Law very seriously. Requiring contractors to submit a final compliance report is instrumental to DOES’ efforts to determine compliance. DOES works hard to educate other District agencies about the requirement that contractors submit a compliance report before final payment is made. Moreover, DOES endeavors to keep contracting agencies updated regarding the compliance status of their contractors. As DOES continues to improve these procedures, adherence to this requirement will also increase. Conversely, when a contractor fails to submit its report before final payment, DOES may still impose penalties if it determines that a violation has occurred. The process for imposition of penalties is set forth in the new OFSC SOP.

XI. Many of the employment plans attached to the employment agreements we reviewed projected few or no new hires.8

The First Source Law requires that District residents receive 51% of new positions created under contracts covered by the Law. Crucially, the Law does not require that the beneficiary engage in new hiring for a project. Neither does it require that 51% of all employees on a project be District residents. Simply, the 51% threshold applies only when a beneficiary seeks to hire new employees to a covered project. The projection of “few or no new hires” is not evidence of a failure to properly enforce compliance by DOES.

XII. Although the District is required to review and assess the percentage hiring and reporting requirements once every three years, this has not been done.\(^9\)

DOES’ assessment of percentage hiring and reporting requirements is currently in progress and expected to be completed by September 30, 2018. Once the assessment is complete, DOES will make a recommendation to Council regarding the feasibility of current hiring and reporting requirements.

OCDA’s report also includes a comparison between the District’s percentage hiring rates and those of other jurisdictions. While DOES appreciates the Report’s multi-jurisdictional comparison, it must be noted that the District’s percentage hiring requirements are higher than any other jurisdiction included. It is also noteworthy that the District out performed all other included jurisdictions in percentage hiring. This performance is testament to the Mayor’s leadership towards putting District residents back to work, and, DOES’ expertise in carrying out that vision. As the Report so clearly indicates, not only is the District performing well in terms of percentage hiring, but, it has become a national leader in this regard.

XIII. In the audit report on page 20, ODCA found that hiring statistics are not being effectively tracked or thoroughly verified and therefore may not provide a valid presentation of the effectiveness of the First Source program.\textsuperscript{10} ODCA posits that:

DOES is not effectively tracking or verifying the hiring statistics submitted to DOES.

The information submitted does not fully represent the current reporting system that is in place. Page four of the SOP details the scope of the records that OFSC reviews to confirm an employer's compliance with the law.\textsuperscript{11} As written in the SOP, OFSC also performs a number of compliance activities.\textsuperscript{12} Further, Employers are required to submit reports in FORRS. Once the information is submitted, OFSC reviews contractor employee records to monitor the hiring data and measure compliance. OFSC then reviews and verifies the data by reviewing payroll records, conducting desk reviews, and conducting social security verification.\textsuperscript{13}

XIV. We were unable to verify the total level of government assistance due to the lack of accurate documentation.

The responsibility of providing the documentation required to determine the “total level of government assistance” has historically belonged to the contracting agency. Regardless, DOES has developed a strategy to increase the likelihood that this critical information is recorded and preserved as necessary. First, each forthcoming First Source Employment Agreement must clearly state the government-assisted amount for the project or contract.\textsuperscript{14} Second, OFSC’s SOP now requires the compliance monitor to input the government-assisted amount into the First Source Online Registration and Reporting System (FORRS).\textsuperscript{15}

XV. We were unable to determine if DOES maintained a signed agreement for all contractors and subcontractors.

The First Source Law requires the contracting agency to provide DOES with a signed First Source Employment Agreement no fewer than seven (7) days prior to commencement of the project. Further, the First Source Law requires the contracting agency, and the General Contractor, to provide DOES with signed copies of all agreements meeting its threshold requirements.

In regards to the Duke Ellington matter, while all General Contractors are required to submit certified payroll records through the LCP Tracker, only those subcontractors that meet the $300,000 contract threshold are required to enter into a First Source agreement.

XVI. We found that most of approved and signed agreements we reviewed contained employment plans. We identified plans, however, that did not provide a list of current employees, a list of projected positions, or justification for why no jobs would be created—all required fields on the employment plan.

While DOES appreciates these findings, pursuant to DC Code 2-219.03(f)(ii), beneficiaries are not required to report information corresponding to current employees as part of its employment plan. Data relating to current employees is submitted, as a monthly report, through FORRS. DOES is committed to ensuring that each employer provide all data required to be included with their employment plan.

\textsuperscript{14} Exhibit H
\textsuperscript{15} Exhibit H and C
The yearly report to the council does include data that is useful in assessing the effectiveness of First Source law and its implementation. For instance, the data below shows that the 51% hiring goal is consistently met or exceeded. There has been a steady increase in the percentage of District residents hired over the past few years.

XVII. We found significant issues with data consisting mainly of the failure of DOES to track certain contracts and missing monthly reports for each project. We identified six IDIQ contracts in our sample that were subject to a first source agreement yet DOES did not collect or maintain monthly report submissions for these contracts.

Three of the six indefinite delivery/indefinite quantity (IDIQ) contracts referenced were “located” outside of the DC metropolitan area. The other three IDIQ contracts were for “on-call” services. Pursuant to DC Code 2-219.03, a contract is exempt from the provisions of the Law when a beneficiary is, 1) located outside of the DC Metro area, and, 2) when none of the contract work is performed in the metro area.

Regarding “on-call” contracts, DOES must rely on the contracting agency to inform it when services are being performed. Before receiving such information, DOES would be unaware of the need to perform monitoring.

XVIII. DOES did not track the amount of time that a new hire stays employed on a project, nor do they track the hiring rates for trend analysis to measure the effectiveness of beneficiaries in keeping District residents employed once they are hired.

While the agency appreciates this finding, as noted on page 21 of the audit report, the Law does not require DOES to track the length of time that a new hire spends working on a project. In addition, the First Source Law does not require DOES to utilize employment statistics to determine trends in new hire retention. However, if so directed, data collected as part of DOES’ semi-annual report to Council could be used for trend analysis.

XIX. DOES did not have a standardized practice for validating a beneficiary’s monthly report submission through a review of a beneficiary’s payroll records. Further, ODCA has noted that DOES accepted monthly reports that did not contain required information such as names of hired employees, address of employees hired, and Social Security Numbers as supporting documentation.

DOES continually strives to ensure that the agency is eliciting all data required pursuant to the First Source Law. DOES utilizes a number of methods to insure the completeness and accuracy of employment records, including the following:

- Site visits (Exhibit I)
- Review of payroll records
- Surveys
- Desk reviews (Exhibit I)

OFSC conducts periodic desk reviews to confirm that all documentation is complete and accurate including a signed First Source agreement, the Subcontractor award list, verification that Contractors are reporting online in the FORRS and that they are including employment plan projections, and the start and end date for the scope of work. OFSC will also conduct the desk review to verify that the Contractor is meeting the requirements for hiring and hours worked percentages. Once the review process concludes, OFSC monitors work with the Contractors to develop a corrective action plan and will perform follow-up as needed.17

- Social security verification

Since the timeframe analyzed in this report, FY14 through FY16, DOES has taken corrective action to address this shortcoming. Amongst these actions is the implementation of an operations

ODCA Response to Agency Comments

We were encouraged by DOES’s response to our findings in that they concurred and expressed that certain actions were in progress to address deficiencies cited in our report. Based on ODCA’s exit conference with DOES and our review of written comments, we have revised the draft report where applicable.

Although DOES included in their written comments to the draft report an outline of progress made in the current fiscal year, most of these actions were not occurring during the scope of our audit and the effective implementation of these actions cannot be evaluated and tested until sufficient time has elapsed.

We also offer the following response to a specific DOES response to this white paper:

DOES Response:

In regard to the Duke Ellington matter, while all General Contractors are required to submit certified payroll records through the LCP Tracker, only those subcontractors that meet the $300,000 contract threshold are required to enter into a First Source Agreement.

Auditor’s Response:

We concur that only subcontractors that meet the $300,000 threshold are required to enter into a First Source Agreement. DOES should, however, review this issue with General Contractors and developers and obtain subcontracting lists with contract amounts to ensure that effective monitoring can occur for those subcontractors required to enter into a First Source Agreement.

Operations Plan

October 31, 2016
Operations Plan Scope

Scope Statement

The District’s First Source Employment Program (FS) is designed to increase the number of DC residents hired on government assisted projects to ensure residents are given priority for new jobs created by municipal financing and development programs. Currently, the city is not realizing the full potential of the law due to several operational challenges. As a result, DOES must take steps to strengthen improve its First Source program operations and performance.

The goals of these operational reforms are to 1) allow the agency to make informed compliance decisions and take enforcement actions that are supported by complete and valid data; 2) clarify and reinforce internal operational processes and procedures; 3) improve staff effectiveness through continued education and training requirements and 4) connect stakeholders and align them with strong compliance and monitoring principles.

Actions and deliverables needed to achieve the Office of Labor Law Enforcement (OLLE) First Source operational goals.

1. Informed compliance decisions and enforcement actions supported by complete, accurate and valid data.

1.1 Develop user friendly standardized First Source (FS) compliance reporting format (document to include assigned monitor, overall contract amount, point of contact, and company name), review/revise site visit monitoring forms and general correspondence (2 weeks): establish a standardized and centralized filing system and protocols for all FS compliance documents and data: a centralized and accessible file center will be established in current FS file area. Please Attachment A.

1.2. Establish base level file documentation requirements/checklist for all FS files (construction/non-construction). Thus far FS staff has identified the items below as the base line:

   a. Construction file:

      I. (Municipal developments) Contracting Agency FS Agreement;
      II. (Private developments) Developer FS Agreement, General contractor FS agreement (optional);
      III. Initial meeting correspondence (email);
      IV. Initial meeting agenda (optional);
      V. Subcontractor list;
      VI. Subcontractor FS Agreements (1 agreement for each sub);
VII. Compliance reports (w/in 1 month);
VIII. Non-compliance warning letter (optional);
IX. Site visit form (Initial, middle, close)
X. Certificate of Occupancy:
XI. Hardship Waiver (optional)

b. Non-construction file:

I. Notice of Contract Award from the Contracting Agencies.
II. (Municipal development) Developer IS Agreement & General FS Contractor Agreement;
III. Initial meeting correspondence (email);
IV. Initial meeting agenda (optional):
V. Subcontractor list;
VI. Subcontractor FS Agreements (1 agreement for each subcontractor);
VII. Compliance reports submitted thru DOES/First Source Online Reporting System by the 10th of each month.

VIII. Non-compliance warning letter (optional);
IX. Site visit form (Initial, middle, close)

1.3. Pursuant to item #2 requirements, compile all current FS construction and non-construction files/records/documentation for CY’S 2014, 2015 and 2016 (FS staff has indicated data is available through current data bases)

a. Compiled files will be distributed to FS staff for sufficiency review (monitors will not review files they created/monitor);

b. Ascertain the number of complete files for CY’s 2014, 2015 and 2016 based:

c. Collect and/or correct all missing and/or erroneous FS documentation to bring FS files into compliance (see, item #2):

1.4. Upon completion of file sufficiency, review update peoplefirst3 tracking database with all updated FS files and documentation. (FS staff indicates PeopleFirst3 tracking is accessible through share drive:

2. Establish internal operational processes and procedures for all FS related duties and responsibilities.

2.1. First Source Team will develop a flow chart detailing the cradle to grave processing of construction, non-construction agreements/projects.
a. Flow chart will display uniformity in the criteria and frequency for the issuance and documentation of enforcement escalation actions for non-compliance (i.e., Warning notification thru Citation)

b. Non-compliance reporting/notification mechanisms for stakeholders (i.e., contracting agency 1st offense, council 2nd offense, public/Mayoral press release 3rd+ offenses, etc.,) will be established;

c. Projects with continued non-compliance will be subject to "High Profile" monitoring criteria (see below).

2.2. Common criteria/indicators for "High Profile Project" designations will be established:

a. Separate "High Profile (HP)" project coding; intensive/enhanced monitoring criteria; structured stakeholder communication protocols will be established.

b. An internal "High Profile Project Steering Committee" consisting of the assigned FS monitor, FS supervisor and OLLE Associate Director (AD) will meet monthly, or as needed, to discuss HP project compliance, determine appropriate enforcement response levels and stakeholder communication/reporting needs.

3. Improved staff effectiveness through continued education and training requirements and innovative tools and technologies.

3.1. Effective immediately, OLLE will (require/recommend) relevant trainings included in all FS staff individual development plans (i.e., Math essentials, Project Management, Time Management, File Management, Case Management, Auditing Fundamentals, Communication Essentials, Writing Essentials, etc.,).

3.2. OLLE must build/purchase a database/software program that effectively interfaces the Local Compliance Program (LCP)(compiles % data for $5mil projects), First Source Online portal (compiles old law stats (51%)) and Peoplefirst3 database (in-house tracking system for all FS agreements).

3.3. OLLE will engage its Internal Audit Team to develop a FS performance reporting metrics for quarterly reporting.

3.4. OLLE’s Internal Auditing Team will conduct scheduled (quarterly) and random program reviews and data validation audits of FS process and procedure compliance.
3.5. OLLE AD will conduct Quarterly operations meetings to review lessons learned and adopt best practices.

4. Connect stakeholders and align them with strong compliance and monitoring practices and principles.

4.1. OLLE AD and DOES General Counsel will revise all First Source Agreements to include affirmations, check lists or disclosure statements indicating projects are subject to Tax Abatements, Special Legislative provisions and/or any other ancillary provision subject to FS compliance monitoring and reporting;

4.2. OLLE AD and FS supervisor will schedule /convene a meeting/teleconference (or series of conferences with all District Contracting Agencies (CA) and provide uniform messaging as to FS compliance and monitoring practices and principles, to include the legislative mandate for FS agreements submission. CA’s will be required to sign acknowledgment that failure to submit FS agreements as mandated by law relieves FS of all monitoring responsibility and places the same with the CA.

4.3. FS will develop an electronic template for CA’s to document and submit a monthly report of FS activity (redundancy intended).

4.4. OLLE AD will convene a meeting with the Office of Economic Development and Planning to identify projects dating from 2014- to date that have received a Tax Abatement incentive and/ or are subject to special legislative requirements and to also establish a process that provides FS with a formal notification of upcoming projects receiving Tax Abatement incentives or are subject to special legislative requirements.

4.5. FS will convene regularly scheduled quarterly meeting/teleconference (or series of conferences with CA’s and stakeholders to update on FS activity, review process changes, establish best practices and forge stronger interagency ties. (Quarterly)

Goal No. 2: Establish internal operational processes and procedures for all FS related duties and responsibilities

| 2.1. Develop a flow chart detailing the cradle to grave processing of construction, non-construction agreements/projects.
  a. Chart will display uniformity in the criteria and frequency for the issuance and documentation of enforcement escalation actions for non-compliance (i.e., warning notification thru citation);
  b. Non-compliance reporting/notification mechanisms for stakeholders (i.e., contracting agency 1st offense; District Council 2nd offense; Public/Mayoral press release 3rd+ offenses, etc.,) will be established;
  c. Projects with continued non-compliance will be subject to "High Profile Project (HPP)" monitoring criteria (see 2.2) | FS Supervisor | 01.31.17 | Team has provided OIT with current FS construction Agreement workflow process. The development of the non-construction workflow process has been delayed due to the launch of FORRS and need to address issues identified with FORRS system. Non construction workflow processes will resume in January 2017. These workflow processes will be used in the development of the FS program flow chart(s) |

  a. Separate “High Profile Project” coding; intensive/enhanced monitoring criteria; and structured stakeholder communication protocols will be established;
  b. An internal “High Profile Project Steering Committee” consisting of the assigned FS monitor, FS supervisor and AD OLLE will meet monthly, or as needed, to discuss High Profile Project compliance, determine appropriate enforcement response levels and stakeholder communication/reporting needs | AD OLLE | 01.31.17 |

| • Team has identified criteria for HPP designation:
  1. $100 million and above;
  2. Community revitalization projects;
  3. Mixed use projects.
  These criteria will be submitted to AD Watts for review and consideration. OLLE will verify completion
  • The High Profile Project Steering Committee will hold a HPP planning meeting on January 31, 2017 to review the six (6) projects currently designated HPPs.
  • An HPP oversight and review session will be conducted for Agency Leadership in February 2017. | |

Goal No. 3: Improved staff effectiveness through continued education and training requirements and innovative tools and technologies

| 3.1 Effective immediately, OLLE AD will require/recommend relevant trainings included in all FS staff individual development plans (i.e., Math essentials, Project Management, Time Management, File Management, Case Management, Auditing Fundamentals, Communication Essentials, Writing Essentials) | AD OLLE | Immediately |

| • LCP Tracking training of OLLE audit team took place 1/20/16.
  • Audit Training and certification will be held onsite beginning January 30 2017 thru February 3, 2017. The training will provide International Audit Certifications for the OLLE team. | |

| 3.2 Procure a database or software program that effectively interfaces the 3 current FS data systems that include 1) the Local Compliance Program (LCP) which compiles % of hours worked data for $5mil or more project (new law); 2), The First Source Online portal which compiles the 51% new hire data (old law); and 3) PeopleFirst3 database which is an in-house tracking system for all FS agreements. Any new | AD OLLE | 01.30.17 |

| OIT has designed and FS’s launched a new registration and reporting portal (FORRS) on 12/13/16. FORRS provides a more efficient way for companies and organizations to remain compliant with monthly First Source reporting requirements. Beginning January 2017, FORRS will be the sole registration and reporting system for companies responsible for managing and reporting First Source employee data. | |
| System must calculate both old (51%) and new law (% hours worked) compliance requirements |

| 3.3 Engage the OLLE internal Audit team to develop a FS performance reporting metrics for quarterly reporting | AD OLLE | 1.17 | FS and Audit Team will establish metrics by January 2017 |
| 3.4 OLLE Internal Audit team will conduct scheduled (quarterly) and random program reviews and data validation audits of FS process and procedure compliance | OLLE Internal Audit Team | 01.03.17 | Audit Team will begin reviews Jan 2017 - through September 2017. |
| 3.5 Conduct quarterly operations meetings to review lessons learned and adopt best practices. | OLLE/FS Staff | 03.14.17 | Ongoing. The first session was held on Monday 11-14-16 |

Goal No. 4: Connect stakeholders and align them with strong compliance and monitoring practices and principles.

| 4.1. OLLE AD and DOES General Counsel (GC) will revise First Source Agreements to include affirmations, check lists or disclosure statements indicating projects are subject to Tax Abatements, Special Legislative provisions and/or any other ancillary provision that require FS compliance monitoring and reporting | OLLE AD and DOES GC | 12.30.16 | FS has developed language for submission and consideration. |
| 4.3. Develop an electronic template for Contracting Agencies (CA) to document and submit a monthly report of FS agreement activity (redundancy intended) | OWH Program Manager | 01.16.17 | Pending. <td>D.C. In selecting unemployed District residents from the First Source Register for interviews for all jobs covered by each employment agreement, the Mayor shall: (1) give the first preference to unemployed District Residents pursuant to § 2-219.01(6)(A)² and second preference to unemployed District residents pursuant to § 2-219-01 (6)(b). We further found that Department of Employment Services (DOES) is not tracking new hires to adequately determine whether vacancies occurring in all jobs covered by an employment agreement are using the First Source Register as the first source for finding employees for these vacancies or that first preference is given unemployed District residents, or that second preference is given. In our review of monthly report submitted by beneficiaries we found one of the requirements that was consistently not captured on the reports were referral sources of each new employee hired on the project. Without the referral source for each new employee, DOES cannot determine that beneficiaries are effectively using the First Source Register or that unemployed District residents are being given first preference. We also interviewed staff within the DOES Business Services Group (BSG) to determine how referrals are made and whether first preference is given to unemployed District residents pursuant to the law. We further requested any data they maintain that would ensure that preference requirements are met. BSG indicated the only metrics they maintain and are required to track are based on requirements of the Department of Labor, tracking only Retention, Penetration and Repeat Business.</td>

<td>This is requirement is not being met on a consistent basis. Based upon interviews with Office of First Source Compliance (OFSC) staff, they often do not get a signed employment agreement until after the contract has been awarded and more than 7 days after work has commenced on the contract or project. We further found instances where DOES did not have an employment agreement for each contract or government assisted project or contract receiving $300,000 or more in government assistance and is unaware that a contract or project has been awarded. This was based on our analysis of contracts valued at $300,000 or more that were awarded in FY 2016 by the Department of General Services (DGS). Of the 124 contracts over $300,000 awarded by DGS in FY 2016 we could not find employment agreement documentation at DOES for 30 of these awards totaling $22,493,159 in government assistance. According to OFSC there are also additional different issues with construction and non-construction projects or contracts. For non-construction contracts or projects OFSC asserted that they must often reach out to the contracting agency to determine if a contract has been awarded. For non-construction projects OFSC staff have made it a practice to reach out to contracting agencies on a quarterly basis. According to OFSC, responders to a Request for Proposal (RFP) for a non-construction contract or projects will submit an initial employment agreement, a requirement of the RFP, and the contracting agency will forward this agreement to DOES. OFSC staff state however that they often still must follow up with the contracting agency to find out who the winning bidder is, so that the awardee can be notified to begin complying with the monthly reporting requirement and monitoring by OFSC can begin. For construction contracts or development projects, OFSC indicated the process for receiving employment agreements from all beneficiaries required to submit an agreement to DOES often breaks down. Although OFSC may be notified that the contract or project has been awarded to a general contractor (GC) or developer, ultimately it will be subcontractors that will be performing the work, hiring or transferring employees, and/or creating new job vacancies. According to OFSC, the general contractor is responsible for obtaining a first source employment agreement from the sub-contractors and there may be a delay getting this done. 5 Beginning December 13, 2016, the DC Department of Employment Services, First Source Program launched a new web-based application, the First Source Online Registration and Reporting System (FORRS). According to the DOES website FORRS will provide a more efficient way for companies and organizations to remain compliant with monthly First Source reporting requirements. Beginning January 2017, DOES indicated that FORRS would be the sole registration and reporting system for companies responsible for managing and reporting First Source employee data. https://does.dc.gov/page/first-source-employment-program

<td>subcontracts out all the work, through four separate subcontracts valued at $200,000; according to OFSC, since none of the subcontracts meets the $300,000 threshold, the subcontractors would not be subject to the 51% new hire requirement, and OFSC would not be monitoring them for compliance. We identified specific examples of this in our file reviews, where the general contractor or developer entered into a signed employment agreement with DOES and indicated that they would have no hires and would subcontract out the work. We found however that there was no system in place to ensure that the GC or developer entered into an agreement with all their subcontractors. According to OFSC this declaration requirement will be included in newly developed employment agreements.</td>

<td>We found inconsistencies in this compliance reporting requirement by beneficiaries. We were not able to document a single monthly reporting form submitted by the beneficiaries in our sample that contained all 11 required reporting elements. The requirements most consistently missing were the number of job openings created by employee attrition, Social Security Number (SSN), hire date, and referral source of each new employee hired on the project.</td>

(e)(1)(D)(i) Government-assisted construction projects or contracts covered by this paragraph shall be subject to the hiring and reporting requirements set forth in this paragraph until construction is completed and a final certificate of occupancy has been issued. | We found that there is not a dedicated procedure documenting in writing that the construction has been completed and a certificate of occupancy has been issued. However, DOES indicated that it is part of their monitoring process. They further indicated they confirm the start and end dates and get a copy of the certificate of occupancy. They further indicated that this process will be included in their new standard operating procedures. (SOPs)⁶ However, in our review of completed projects in our sample we found no certificate of occupancy or any documentation indicating that the project had been completed. | NEI     |

(e)(1)(D)(ii) Government-assisted non-construction projects or contracts covered by this paragraph shall be subject to the hiring and reporting requirements set forth in this paragraph for as long as the benefit is being received. | We found no documentation in sample files that indicated how long the hiring and reporting requirements are to be. For example, how long a tax abatement is going to be granted, or a TIF project is to receive the benefit. OFCS indicated that they will receive the first source agreement and set up the parameters in FORRS for however long the agreement states. OFCS also indicated they communicate with the contracting/agreement agency regarding these types of agreements. | NEI     |

(B) Collective bargaining agreements shall not be a basis for a waiver from this requirement.</td>
<td>This provision relates to construction projects only. We found that DOES relies heavily on self-certification by the beneficiaries and their subcontractors. We found that beneficiaries and their subcontractors are required to upload their certified payrolls into LCP tracker on a weekly basis. According to DOES, LCP tracker has security features built in that will verify the SSN submitted and DOES then tracks the hours worked by category and LCP is programed to provide hours worked in real time, by category. A warning email is also sent out to contractors or sub-contractors who fail to report. Verification of these numbers and categories remains in question because there is no dedicated monitoring of certified payrolls at DOES, nor did DOES have SOPs detailing its process for monitoring payrolls.</td>

AUTHORITIES

- D.C. Official Code § 2-219.01 et seq., as amended
- D.C. Official Code § 32-1431
- Mayor's Order dated: January 10, 2018

SCOPE AND BACKGROUND

OFSC processes and monitors all First Source Employment FSEAs (FSEA) for entities awarded government assisted projects or contracts totaling $300,000 or more to ensure that 51% of all project new hires are District residents for non-construction and construction. OFSC also monitors all government assisted construction projects totaling $5 million or more, verifying that the hours worked by District residents on the project represent 20% of all journey worker hours, 60% of all apprenticeship hours, 51% of all skilled laborer hours and 70% of all common laborer hours.

The major tasks performed by the OFSC are:

- Processing and maintaining records of DC Government First Source FSEAs which include the Employment Plan
- Reviewing Employment Plans of entities
- Educating Beneficiaries and Employers on compliance with First Source law.
- Conduct round table, train-the-trainer and information sessions with Contracting Agencies and General Contractors
- Reviewing Subcontractor List of all contracts awarded on the project (Company Name, Contract Amount, Estimated Start-Date and End-Date)
- Verifying Employees as DC residents
- Performing desk review and site visit of Employers contract compliance data and records
- Auditing employer records that may include certified payrolls, employee addresses, and type of labor provided by employees for hours worked percentages
- Processing and recording all information (Account Maintenance)
- Issuing compliance failure notices, compliance status updates, and compliance
closeout letters

- Assessing Employers good faith efforts to hire DC residents or meet hours worked percentages of journey workers, apprentices, skilled laborers, and common laborers
- Process fines or penalties
- Participating in appeals as appropriate

- Funding Source
- The period of funding
- Contract amount of funds from the District of Columbia Government
- Contract
- Hires
- DC New Hires
- Transfers
- Total Journey Worker Hours
- DC Resident Journey Worker Hours
- Total Apprentice Hours
- DC Resident Apprentice Hours
- Total Skilled Laborer Hours
- DC Resident Skilled Laborer Hours
- Total Common Laborer Hours
- DC Resident Common Laborer Hours
- Payroll Records
- Unemployment Insurance or any other records which may reflect paid services and residential information
- Job Descriptions
- Employment Plans

Non-Construction vs. Construction Employees

Non-Construction – Requirement is based on Contract Value

- Employers with contracts valued at $300,000 or more must enter into a FSEA and shall hire DC residents for at least 51% of all new jobs created by the contract.

Construction – Requirement is based on the value of the DC Government funding or benefit

- Employers with contracts valued at $300,000 - $4,999,999 must enter into a FSEA and shall hire DC residents for at least 51% of all new jobs created by the project.

- Construction – An Employer with a contract valued at $100,000 on any projects of any size which falls under the old law, must enter into a First Source Employment FSEA and shall hire DC residents for at least fifty one percent (51%) of all new jobs created by the project.

- Employers on Construction projects with government funding or benefits valued at $5,000,000 or more must enter into a FSEA and shall meet the following hours worked percentages for the project:

  1. At least 20% of all journey worker hours by trade shall be performed by DC residents;
  2. At least 60% of all apprentice hours by trade shall be performed by DC residents;

Regarding non-construction projects, how will IDIQ contracts be monitored and hiring requirements tracked?
3. At least 51% of all skilled laborer hours by trade shall be performed by DC residents; and
4. At least 70% of all common laborer hours shall be performed by DC residents.

PROCEDURES

Completed FSEAs

1. The Office of Contracting and Procurement (OCP) and District of Columbia agencies with independent contracting authority (CA) are responsible for ensuring that the Employer is aware of their First Source hiring or worked hours percentage requirements based upon the amount of the government assistance received. After the OCP/CA’s receive a completed and signed First Source FSEA from an Employer, the OCP/CA’s will transmit the FSEA to the OFSC at least 7 days prior to the start date of the contract or project.
2. OCP, CA, Developer and the General Contractor are all responsible for sending the FSEA to the First Source Mailbox at (firstsource@dc.gov). The General Contractor must submit the FSEAs of its subcontractors. The First Source Mailbox is checked daily.
3. Upon receipt of the FSEA, OFSC staff shall print and date stamp the FSEA, log information onto the First Source FSEA Tracker spreadsheet, and review the FSEA for completeness and accuracy.

Incomplete FSEAs

4. The incomplete FSEA is entered on the First Source FSEA Tracker spreadsheet as “Incomplete”.
5. All incomplete FSEAs will be forwarded to the OCP or CA or Developer or General Contractor with an explanation of why First Source is unable to proceed with processing.
6. Once the FSEA is corrected, the completed FSEA should be forwarded to the First Source Mailbox (firstsource@dc.gov)

Processing FSEAs

7. OFSC staff will place a coversheet on the FSEA and forward it to First Source monitor assigned to project or contract for review. After review is completed, OFSC staff submits to Associate Director of the Office of Wage-Hour for final review and approval signature.
   a. Once the FSEA is approved, the OFSC Supervisor will assign an OFSC member to monitor the FSEA for compliance. The program support assistant will scan and forward the FSEA to the appropriate contracting agency, developer, or General contractor and copy the OFSC compliance monitor, indicating the approval.
   b. Within 3 days, OFSC staff shall enter the FSEA into the First Source On-Line Registration & Reporting System (FORRS) which is an application that First Source uses to setup projects, organize, manage, and update all First Source information.
   c. After the FSEAs are entered into the system, Employers can register and report contract compliance data.
   d. DOES forward a copy of the signed FSEA and a cover letter to the OCP or CA or Developer or General Contractor. The cover letter provides the employer with instructions on registering and listing job openings with DOES and submitting the monthly compliance report.
   e. The Beneficiary (prime contractor) receiving government assistance shall choose whether the 51% of the new employees hired or hours worked percentages shall be cumulative of all new hires or hours worked percentages including those made by all subcontractors at any tier who worked on the project or contract; or met by each subcontractor, individually, at any tier who work on the project.
   f. A copy of each FSEA is maintained onsite at DOES’ Headquarters in a hardcopy and soft copy file, on the First Source’s shared drive, and in FORRS.
   g. First Source will provide the Office of Apprenticeship with the Developer/General Contractor FSEAs to provide any updates on upcoming projects.
Special FSEA (Modification)

1. The content of the FSEA may be modified under the following circumstances:
   a) The First Source Associate Director requests a change.
   b) The Council of the District of Columbia has passed legislation amending the First Source requirements or special legislation applicable to a single or series of projects.
   c) A negotiated special FSEA that enhances the FSEA with additional employment opportunities for District residents.
2. All modifications must be approved by the OFSC Associate Director prior to approval of the FSEA.
3. The following actions will be taken when a modified FSEA is approved by the First Source Associates Director:
   a) DOES comments shall include a statement regarding approval or disapproval of the FSEA.
   b) DOES forwards its comments and the signed original FSEA to OCP, CA, and the Developer or General Contractors and subcontractors within five business days of approval by the Associate Director.
3. OFSC enters the FSEA into the FORRS system.

Employment Plan

All Employers that are subject to the First Source Employment FSEA must submit an Employment Plan indicating all new positions that will be created as a result of the project or contract. If the company is not creating any new employment opportunities, they must complete the justification sheet with an explanation. The OFSC staff will adhere to the following procedures:

1. Pull the Employment Plan from the First Source Employment FSEA with job creation projections;
2. Maintain an electronic Employment Plan and New Job Creation Projection Tracker spreadsheet containing all the job creation projections from the Employment Plans; and
3. Forward Employment Plan which includes Employer's new job creation projection to the Business Services Group and American Job Center;
4. OFSC staff to follow-up with BSG regarding Employment Plan new job creation projection to see if referrals were made.
5. Enter referrals onto Employment Plan/New Job Creation Projection Tracker.
6. If there are no candidates matching the supplied qualifications, OFSC and the Employer may agree to develop specific skills training program as approved by DOES.
7. The training specifications and cost for such training will be made by OFSC with input from the Employer.
8. Upon award of contract all Employers must submit a revised Employment Plan to OFSC.
9. Review new job creation projections and hour worked percentages.
10. If there are no new job creation projections or hours worked percentages, review with General Contractor and Subcontractor an alternative plan.
11. Associate Director to approve Alternative Plan.
12. Track the success of Alternative Plan.

Office of First Source Compliance Monitoring

1. As a part of monitoring and enforcement, the FSEA shall require the Employer to grant DOES access to worksites, employees, and documents for reporting verification.
2. An Employer's noncompliance with the provisions of this FSEA may result in a recommendation of fines and penalties.

Regarding procedure #2 under Office of First Source Compliance Monitoring, what are these specific fines and penalties for failure to grant DOES access?
3. All Employer information reviewed or gathered as a result of DOES’ monitoring and enforcement activities will be treated confidentially and stored in a secure location in accordance with all District and federal confidentiality and privacy laws.

Office of First Source Compliance Activities:

1. Monitor and track each beneficiary of government-assisted projects in the District to ensure compliance with the First Source Employment FSEA.
2. Review all contract controls to determine if Employer is subject to Law 19-84 and DC Law 14-24.
3. Notify stakeholders and company officials regarding compliance updates and schedule meetings, training and provide technical assistance involving the FSEA requirements and First Source Reporting Process.
